

Specialized BG Pro road shoes

Specialized shoes have become a staple in the European pro peloton and subsequently highly regarded by many Cycle Sport readers. The new 2009 model reportedly boasts the lightest weight (with mechanical closures) on the market, and a supreme fit featuring the proprietary Body Geometry technology. These shoes are ready for the spring season cobbles that pros will have to endure. Other highlights include a new stiffer FACT carbon sole made from 11r carbon, water resistant Micromatrix uppers, Powerzone lacing system for custom fit and comfort, and a fully vented tongue for breathability.

£149.99. Sizes 36-49 (half sizes in 39.5-46.5). Colours: black, white/black, white/blue.

www.specialized.com

DZ Nuts chamois cream

Designed for US pro TT champion and member of the Garmin-Chipotle cycling team David Zabriskie, DZ Nuts chamois cream is designed to relieve and minimise chafing, irritation and bacterial and fungal infections of sensitive skin. Key ingredients include tea tree oil, evodia, and masterwort — all natural plant derived ingredients with anti-bacterial, anti-fungal, anti-inflammatory properties. Fragrance and animal byproduct free.

£11.99, 4oz/120ml tube. Formulated for both natural and synthetic chamois.

www.wiggle.co.uk, www.DZ-Nuts.com

dznuts

high viscosity
chamois cream

4 fl oz / 120 ml

TM

ovalconcepts.com

Oval Concepts are world renowned for their pioneering and advanced thinking in cycling Aerodynamics, but without proper fit, the advantage can be lost.

Unlike most aero bars, the A901 allows up to 1.2M incremental adjustments, maximising pedalling and aerodynamic efficiency.

The A901 now comes as a £549.95 complete package, containing the bar, extensions, arm rests and pads [optional Red carbon accessories].